Anticorruption and Anti-Bribery Policy

SPONSORING ORGANIZATION: Ethics & Compliance

INTRODUCTION
Booz Allen has zero tolerance for bribery and corruption. We conduct our business with integrity, win work only on the strength of our services and solutions, and require all people and organizations acting on our behalf to do the same. The purpose of this policy is to clearly state Booz Allen’s prohibition on and define conduct that constitutes bribery or corruption, and set forth several specific rules designed to prevent bribery and corruption. This policy promotes compliance with laws that prohibit corruption and bribery in all countries where Booz Allen operates or conducts business, including but not limited to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) and the U.K. Bribery Act.

SCOPE
This policy applies to all employees, officers, directors, independent contractors, subsidiaries, and affiliates of the firm.

POLICY
Booz Allen’s policy concerning bribery and corruption is absolutely clear: We do not offer, pay, solicit, or accept bribes.

- No Government Bribery: Booz Allen people must not offer, make, authorize or allow payments, gifts, or the transfer of anything of value to Government Officials to obtain any business advantage for Booz Allen or anyone else.

- No Commercial Bribery: Booz Allen people must not offer, make, authorize or allow payments, gifts, or the transfer of anything of value to employees or representatives of businesses to obtain any business advantage for Booz Allen or anyone else. Booz Allen people must not solicit or accept payments, gifts, or anything of value offered in exchange for any business advantage for a supplier or anyone else.

- No Kickbacks: Booz Allen people must not offer, make, authorize, allow, solicit or accept payments, gifts, or the transfer of anything of value to or from any businesses (including our prime contractor, customers, or suppliers) or their employees or representatives for the purpose of providing or obtaining any business advantage related to federally funded projects except for bona fide payments (a) made to suppliers, pursuant to Booz Allen’s Procurement of Products and Services Policy or (b) received from prime contractors or customers for work performed by Booz Allen. Exceptions to this general prohibition are permitted only when approved in writing by the Ethics & Compliance team and must be requested by sending an email.

For purposes of this policy, “Anything of value” includes, for example, cash, gift cards, meals, drinks, theater and sports tickets, gift baskets, Booz Allen marketing events and branded items, club dues and charitable contributions made on behalf of, at the request of or in support of an individual. “Anything of Value” also includes favors such as personal loans or offering to hire a relative regardless of whether the relative is qualified for the position or if Booz Allen has a legitimate business need for the hire, paying for a client or potential client executive’s or government official’s travel, or the sponsorship of a travel visa when not required by Booz Allen’s contract with the client.

A government official is any director, officer, or employee of an entity wholly or partially owned by a government and includes any member of the government official’s family. Government officials include elected or appointed officials even if they are part-time, officers, and employees of federal, state, or local agencies, outside directors of government-owned entities, royal family members, political candidates, and officers of public international organizations such as the World Bank, United Nations, and the International Monetary Fund. Government Officials also include political parties and officers of political parties.

Booz Allen people must also comply with the following rules:

- Working with Third Parties: Before Booz Allen will make any commitment (verbal or written) to a prospective third party that will perform client-facing work outside of the United States or interact with a non-U.S. government agency on Booz Allen’s behalf (“Business Intermediary”), and as a pre-condition to entering into any agreement or making any payment under any such agreement, Booz Allen will conduct anticorruption due diligence review of the Business Intermediary designed to assess the Business Intermediary’s ethics and compliance reputation, as well as any contacts it may have with any government official. Business Intermediaries include certain business development agents, prime contractors, subcontractors, independent consultants, representatives, customs brokers, advisors (including lawyers or accountants), joint venture partners, and teaming or alliance partners. See the Working with Business Intermediaries Policy for additional information and guidance.

- Gifts & Business Courtesies: Booz Allen people may give or receive gifts or business courtesies only under certain circumstances, and with the proper Booz Allen approvals. In general, a gift or business courtesy may be provided only if it: (1) it is for a proper purpose; (2) complies with Booz Allen policies and the recipient’s employer’s policies; (3) complies with any agreement and procurement rules between Booz Allen and the recipient’s employer; (4) is reasonable in value and appropriate under the circumstances; and (5) is permitted by law. Certain gifts and business courtesies, such as gifts to non-U.S. government officials and gifts to individuals affiliated with non-government entities, also require Booz Allen pre-approval. See the Gifts and Business Courtesies, Community Impact Activities, and Sponsorship Payments Policy for additional information and guidance.

- No Facilitating Payments: Booz Allen prohibits Booz Allen people from making “facilitating payments” directly or indirectly through others, regardless of whether such payments are customary in the region, nominal in amount, or permitted by local law. A facilitating payment (sometimes called an “expediting payment”) is a payment to a government official to speed up an administrative process where the government has already determined that Booz Allen is entitled to the outcome (e.g., a license, a visa, registration in an online tender system).

- Duress Payments: In the rare case where an emergency payment, often referred to as a “duress payment,” is made to address an imminent threat to the safety and well-being of Booz Allen people, personnel from our business partners, or their families, the Booz Allen person who made the payment must immediately contact the Legal Department for further direction. Once notified, the Legal Department will also work to ensure that the payment is recorded promptly and accurately (for example, by directing that the Booz Allen employee who made the payment submit an expense report for the payment in Concur that contains a detailed description of the extenuating circumstances surrounding the payment, including the need for and purpose of the payment).

Record Keeping and Internal Financial Controls

Booz Allen’s books and records must fully and fairly reflect all expenditures of company funds, whether legitimate or not, and prohibits any attempts to create false or misleading records. In addition, Booz Allen has established and maintains a system of accounting procedures and financial reporting and controls to ensure that all transactions and dispositions of assets occur only with proper authorizations, and that all such transactions are recorded accurately and in reasonable detail on the books, records and accounts. Booz Allen people must adhere to Booz Allen’s accounting procedures and financial reporting and control requirements. These provisions apply to all majority-owned or controlled Booz Allen operations, subsidiaries, branches and offices worldwide, even if they are incorporated outside the United States and do not conduct any business in the United States. Booz Allen will use its best efforts, to the extent reasonable under the circumstances, to cause any operations, subsidiaries, branches or offices minority owned by Booz Allen to maintain a system of internal accounting controls and ensure that all transactions are recorded accurately.
